Explaining Conflicts of Interest:

A “conflict of interest” involves the actual, apparent or potential abuse of the trust that people have in professionals. The simplest working definition states: A conflict of interest is a situation in which financial or other personal considerations have the potential to compromise or bias professional judgment and objectivity. An apparent conflict of interest is one in which a reasonable person would think that the professional’s judgment is likely to be compromised. A potential conflict of interest involves a situation that may develop into an actual conflict of interest. It is important to note that a conflict of interest exists whether or not decisions are affected by a personal interest. A conflict of interest implies only the potential for bias, not the likelihood.

Conflicts of interest in terms of the FAIS Act can be described as circumstances where some or all of the interests of clients to whom a financial services provider or product supplier provides financial services or products, are inconsistent with, or diverge from, some or all of the interests of the FSP, its representatives or the product supplier.

It should be understood that the conflicting interest referred to throughout this policy may be direct or indirect (the interest might be that of the Responsible Person, that of another person such as a relative or friend of the Responsible Person, or that of an organization in which the Responsible Person or such other person has an interest).

It is not possible to list all situations which could constitute a conflict. The facts of each situation will determine whether the interest in question is such as to bring it within the area of potential conflict.

3. Procedures for management of conflicts of interest identification

To adequately manage conflicts of interest, the Firm will identify all relevant conflicts timeously and will employ two different mechanisms to ensure that all conflicts are identified:

The Firm maintains a register of identified conflicts of interest. The register is compiled in conjunction with the Firm’s board and updated with all new conflicts as soon as they are identified. The register is reviewed on an annual basis for completeness. The register identifies the conflict, the severity of the conflict and documented controls to mitigate the conflict.

All employees, including compliance officers and management, are responsible for identifying specific instances of conflict and are required to notify their business unit manager or compliance officer of any conflicts they become aware of. The business unit manager will escalate the conflict to the compliance officer, who will assess the implications of the conflict and how the conflict should be managed in conjunction with the board.

3.1 Managing Conflicts of Interest

Once a conflict has been identified it needs to be appropriately and adequately managed. Management and compliance assesses each conflict and whether the conflict is actual or perceived and what the value of the conflict or exposure is and the potential reputational risk.

Compliance and management will decide whether it is viable to go ahead with the transaction or if the conflict is too severe, decline to act.

If Compliance and management decide that the particular conflict can be mitigated, they will agree on the controls that should be put in place to manage the conflict. The controls will be documented in the Conflicts of interest Register.

3.2 Specific Confirmations

The Firm confirms that it will ONLY receive financial interest from a third party in the form of:

1. Fees for rendering a financial service in respect of which no commission or fees are paid, if those fees are specifically agreed to by the client;
2. Fees or remuneration for the rendering of a service to a third party, which fees are reasonably commensurate to the service being rendered;
3. Subject to any other law, an immaterial financial interest.

The Firm confirms that it will not offer any financial interest to a Responsible Person for:

- Giving preference to the quantity of business secured, to the exclusion of the quality of service rendered to clients; or
- Giving preference to a specific product supplier, where a representative may recommend more than one product supplier to a client; or
- Giving preference to a specific product of a product supplier, where a representative may recommend more than one product of that product supplier to a client

4. Mitigating Controls

The Firm has various internal policies and controls in place to manage and mitigate possible conflicts of interests, and will, in writing, at the earliest reasonable opportunity disclose to a client any conflicts of interest in respect of that client.

The disclosure will include:

- Measures taken, in accordance with the conflicts of interest management policy to avoid or mitigate the conflict,
- Any ownership interest or financial interest, other than an immaterial financial interest, that the Firm or representative may become eligible for,
- An explanation of the nature of any relationship or arrangement with a third party that gives rise to a conflicts of interest, in sufficient detail to a client to enable a client to understand the exact nature of the relationship or arrangement and the conflicts of interest;

and the Firm will ensure the following:

1. The Firm will inform its client of the conflicts of interest management policy and how it may be accessed.
2. A Register of "Associates" of the Firm - as defined in Definitions - is maintained and documents the associated companies within the group.
3. A Register of Conflicts of Interest is open for viewing on request. The register identifies all conflicts as well as the mitigation controls put in place to manage the conflict. The register is updated when a conflict is identified and it is reviewed at least on an annual basis.
4. A Register of Personal Interests is maintained and documents the business interests of a Responsible Person to the extent that such business interest might cause an actual or perceived conflicts of interest.
5. A Register of Gifts/Entertainment Received, is maintained documenting all financial interests and immaterial financial interests offered to or received by a Responsible Person.
6. Comprehensive Training on the Conflicts of interest Policy is provided to Key Individuals and Representatives
7. All employees and representatives are required to read this policy and sign a statement to the effect that they have read and fully understand the provisions of the document and the application thereof.
8. Internal compliance will on an ad hoc basis check on financial records to ensure the policy is being complied with, specifically checking the accuracy of the Gift Register.
9. Non-compliance will be subject to disciplinary procedures in terms of FAIS and employment conditions and can ultimately result in debarment or dismissal as applicable.
10. Avoidance, limitation or circumvention of this policy will be deemed non-compliance.
11. The external compliance officer will include monitoring of the Conflicts of interest Policy as part of the general monitoring duties, and will report thereon in the annual compliance report to the FSB.

5. Practical Guide

"The R1000 Rule" - Key Individuals and Representatives of the FSP are not allowed to spend on, or receive from Key Individuals or Representatives of other FSPs an "immaterial financial interest" of more than R1000 per year.

This includes, but is not limited to:

- Meals
- Golf days
- Gifts, e.g. wine

- Tickets for rugby or cricket matches
- Overseas trips

Note that the R1000 limit applies per Representative, and not per FSP or Product Supplier. Example: an FSP called “Best Interests At Heart” has 500 representatives on its license. The Firm may spend R1000 per year in “immaterial financial interest” on each individual representatives of that firm.

The Firm will not aggregate this amount across the FSP, and spend say R3000 on some representatives, and average the amount out by not spending any money on some of the representatives.

Similarly, representatives of the Firm may not receive more than R1000 worth of gifts, hospitality, meals etc. from another FSP or Product Supplier in a calendar year.

Bona fide training/information sessions are specifically excluded from the above prohibition is bona fide training on products and/or technical systems, or general industry information sessions.

Please note:

- the sessions cannot be available only to a selected group of people.
- The FSP or Product Supplier is not allowed to pay for the accommodation or travel costs of the attendees
- Lunch or beverages may be provided with these sessions, as long as it is incidental to the session, and provided that it is not the focus of the session.

Example:

The Firm may organise an industry information session at the Mount Nelson Hotel. The Firm cannot only invite the Financial Advisors (FA) or Representatives with the largest volume of sales. There have to be other qualifying criteria determining the list of invitees. Meals and drinks may be provided, as long as it is incidental to the training/information session, and not excessive.
